We present the

LOGISTIC NATIVES E. V.

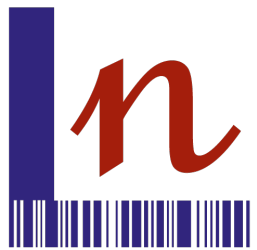

General information

The logistic-natives e.V. is an international logistics infrastructure network for modern commerce. Its members are predominantly German SMEs.

The association actively represents the economic and legal interests of over 30,000 companies in the industry. Its primary aim is to empower its members to benefit from increasingly digitalized business processes and to apply digital communications media in delivery workflows for digital commerce as a means of optimizing delivery, sustainability, life cycle management, circular logistics and returns management.

As a rich source of practical expertise, the network is the first point of contact for representatives from politics, administration, business and other institutions wishing to create national and international solutions for tomorrow's commerce. The logistics-natives e.V. sees itself as a cross-sectional association for all stakeholders involved in commerce, building bridges for its members and supporting member companies in developing new and evaluating existing business models.

The association currently has six permanent working groups which meet regularly and engage with current industry trends. Spokespersons for each working group are selected from within the member groups; they are also the association's experts in their particular fields.
